

OH&S Policy

Thorburn Australia recognises recognizes the importance of protecting the health and safety of our employees, clients, and contractors. This commitment extends beyond the workplace to our employee's families and the general community.

We believe that all safety incidents are avoidable and shall plan all our work to ensure our staff and stakeholders adhere to the highest safety standards possible.

We shall encourage the use of safe working statements, promote the reporting of incidents, create a culture of "safety above all" and provide leadership in safety.

The objective of this policy is to communicate to all staff and stakeholders our commitment to safety by using a risk based approach to all our work, training our staff and pursue continuous improvement to our safety processes.

This policy is endorsed by the company Director, Shane Thorburn.
